Gallagher, Henry W. Lawrence, Oscar L. Cox, D. S. Spencer, W. R. Wallace and others.

Headquarters Busy Scene.

The congress headquarters presented a busy scene. Secretary Edwin J. Becker was everywhere present, registering delegates, distributing badges and attending to the wants of those who came in. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith also was present, under the direction of Bessie Shirley Seaboldt, official stenographer of the congress. Secretary Becker's assistants acquitted themselves with great credit in handling the arrivals.

The dance hall appeared brilliant in its decorations, illumination and palms, and it is not often that a more representative class of citizens gathered together. The visiting delegates enjoyed themselves heartily and retired with words of warm praise for the cordiality of the initial function ushering in the congress.

First Session Today.

This forenoon at 10 o'clock in the Assembly hall the first session will be opened. The congress will be called to order by W. F. Jensen, chairman of the local committee on general arrangements, who will introduce John L. Powell, chairman of the executive committee. The Rev. Francis B. Short of the First Methodist church of Salt Lake will offer the invocation, preceding introduction remarks by Arthur C. Trumbo, president of the congress. Addresses of welcome will be made by Governor William Spry for the state, Mayor Sam C. Johnson for the city and Secretary Joseph E. Calne for the Commercial club.

Afternoon Subjects.

The second session will open this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The subjects of "Transportation," "Good Roads," and "Education" will be the subjects of addresses. Under the first subject, W. G. Edens of Chicago, Ill., will talk on "Cooperation," John Brisen Walker of San Francisco will talk on "Transcontinental Highways," and D. C. Collier of San Diego, Cal., will talk on "Education." He is president of the Panama-California exposition, 1915. Under the second subject, E. Helm of Wichita, Kan., and James W. Forch of New Orleans, La.

At 5 o'clock tonight the third session will be opened. David S. Jordan, president of Leland Stanford, Jr. university, will speak on "A Case Against Utah," and L. Ward Bannister of Denver, Colo., will talk on "Recall of Judges and of Judicial Decisions," and William Dore, Utah state commissioner of insurance, will deliver an address on "Fire Waste."

Wednesday at Saltair.

Wednesday afternoon and evening sessions will be held at Saltair. All other sessions will be held in the Assembly hall. The official badges of the congress will be honored on the train leaving for Saltair at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The morning session, August 29 and 30, will be given over entirely to business sessions.

The Commercial club yesterday, through its board of governors, extended urgent invitation to all its members to attend the sessions of the congress beginning today. The invitation lays special

TRANSMISSISSIPPI CONGRESS ORATORS

J. W. Kelly, Who Will Talk on "See America First."

By International News Service.
NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—William Loeb, Jr., collector of the port of New York by appointment of President Taft, came out boldly today in a vigorous defense of Colonel Roosevelt against attacks being made upon the ex-president in the double-barreled controversy raging over the contributions to the Roosevelt campaign fund of 1904 by the Standard Oil company and by E. H. Harriman.

He says it was he, not President Roosevelt, whose secretary he then was, to whom George B. Cortelyou, as chairman of the Republican national committee, gave positive assurance that the Standard Oil company had made no contribution to the campaign. Mr. Loeb also makes the further astonishing statement that instead of Roosevelt asking Harriman for assistance the latter, at the famous White house interview, had urged the president to cause National Chairman Cortelyou forthwith to give financial help to the New York state committee in order to save the state ticket.

Volunteers Statement.

"I am making these statements only in the interest of truth. I have not publicly discussed either of these subjects before," he went on, "because I had not thought it necessary to do so. When I visited Colonel Roosevelt at Sagamore Hill Sunday afternoon, I voluntarily offered to give out for the first time a correct account of both incidents."

"I was present through the entire interview E. H. Harriman had in the White house with President Roosevelt on the eve of the election in 1904. I was his private secretary, and the president made it a practice to have me present at every important political interview he had with visitors. I remember clearly the spirit and result of the Harriman interview on that occasion. Mr. Harriman assured the president that he (Mr. Roosevelt) was certain to be elected, but that the state ticket in New York, headed by Higgins, was in grave danger, and that it was in the power of President Roosevelt alone to save it."

"The first letter recited a report then widely published by the newspapers that the Standard Oil company had made a big contribution. It was dated October 28, 1904. In this letter President Roosevelt told Mr. Cortelyou that if the report were true he must see to it at once that the money was sent back. The other letter and telegram were to the same effect."

"Two or three days passed and no word from the subject had come to the White house. Chairman Cortelyou, the president was growing more restive hourly. He told me to call up Chairman Cortelyou on the long distance telephone and ask him if he had received the letter and the telegram, and if so, what he had done about it. This I did, and received the promise from Mr. Cortelyou that he would do as once as Mr. Roosevelt wanted him to do."

"I do not now recollect the amount of money Mr. Cortelyou was needed. I do, though, remember distinctly that I was present at the interview, heard it all, escorted Mr. Harriman to the door, and then conveyed the president's instructions to Chairman Cortelyou over the telephone."

Standard Oil Matter.

Collector Loeb then took up the Standard Oil contribution. "Of this matter," he said, "my memory is quite as clear and distinct as to the other I have just discussed. I remember the two letters and a telegram."

Utah, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Wright, Ogden, Utah; Orlando Bradley, Moroni, Utah; Earl Jackson, Levan, Utah.

TRIBUNE'S AUTO PAGE PRAISED

The Tribune's automobile page came in for a sincere and genuine boost last night when a Colorado man declared it was the best of its kind in the mountain section. The Tribune's automobile department this gratifying boost was C. A. Johnson, formerly president of the Denver Chamber of Commerce. He is here as a delegate to the Transmississippi Commercial congress.

"What I want to say," said Mr. Johnson at the Hotel Utah last night, "that the Tribune has the right idea about automobiles and good roads. I think it is the best of its kind in the mountain section. The Tribune's automobile department this gratifying boost was C. A. Johnson, formerly president of the Denver Chamber of Commerce. He is here as a delegate to the Transmississippi Commercial congress."
